

APRIL

24 November 1954

MEMO FOR THE RECORD OF THE CLARK COMMITTEE

1. ORR Economic Research: Colonel Miller started the day by questioning the suitability of the directives outlining the responsibility of the office. This encompassed the evaluation of divided responsibility, the depths of which the Colonel is attempting to probe.

2. Colonel Miller was confused and constantly referred back to the allocation of responsibility for the preparation of studies and/or papers by ORR to its working level, stressing a concern over time and effort.

3. Colonel Miller, as he gets about more and more is concerned over wasted effort through lack of closer physical association of allied offices with allied interests.

4. The same recurrent questioning over duplication of effort consumed the day's efforts. He evidently lacks the knowledge of what division complements the other and where the responsibility begins and ends over the various phases of development and information.

5. One question in particular that Colonel Miller raised and which might be of advanced interest to OSI was that concerning the principle responsibility for the collection, evaluation and dissemination of electronic information.

6. Colonel Miller asked almost every office in ORR visited today where the responsibility stemmed for the various efforts they had dedicated themselves.

25X1A

[REDACTED]

FLD/du
cc: General Balmer
Inspector General

010167

~~SECRET~~

24 November 1954

MEMO FOR THE RECORD OF THE CLARK COMMITTEE

1. ORR Economic Research: Colonel Miller started the day by questioning the suitability of the directives outlining the responsibility of the office. This encompassed the evaluation of divided responsibility, the depths of which the Colonel is attempting to probe.

2. Colonel Miller was confused and constantly referred back to the allocation of responsibility for the preparation of studies and/or papers by ORR to its working level, stressing a concern over time and effort.

3. Colonel Miller, as he gets about more and more is concerned over wasted effort through lack of closer physical association of allied offices with allied interests.

4. The same recurrent questioning over duplication of effort consumed the day's efforts. He evidently lacks the knowledge of what division complements the other and where the responsibility begins and ends over the various phases of development and information.

5. One question in particular that Colonel Miller raised and which might be of advanced interest to OSI was that concerning the principle responsibility for the collection, evaluation and dissemination of electronic information.

6. Colonel Miller asked almost every office in ORR visited today where the responsibility stemmed for the various efforts they had dedicated themselves.

cc: [REDACTED]
Inspector General

This document has been approved for release through the HISTORICAL REVIEW PROGRAM of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Date 5/5/92HRP 89-2

010167